Remarks of Mr. Parsons of Cuyahoga,

MR. SPEARER: I trust sir that the House will not discharge the Judiciary Committee from the further consideration of this subject, but will refer the matter back to thom. with instructions to report a bill providing for the payment at ence, by the State, of the outstanding bils of the Canal Bank, and the redemption of the certificates of the Treasurer of State given for the same. It is an act of justice that is loudly called for by the people of the State, and one they have the right to demand at our hands. Sir the bills of the Canal Bank, were taken by our citisens as meney, because they supposed the credit of the State was pledged for their odemption. They reposed with entire confi-dence upon that belief, and new we are called upon by every principle of equity and fair dealing to redeem that faith.

I cannot believe there is a gentleman agen this floor but what would cheerfully give his vote for a bill providing for the redemption of these notes. The liability of the Stare is undisputed—the fact that the bills never could have obtained credit for a moment with the community, had not the State been pledged to redeem them, is equal-ly admitted, and that by the neglect, or defautt, or fraudulent conduct of the sworn officers of the State, they have become worthless in the hands of innocent holders is equally admitted-hence it seems to me that no man who loves justice-who desires to maintain untarnished the dignity and honor of Ohio, can besitate for a moment as foring want and destitution-all of there are innocent of any wrong, and all of them cry
